Let's Start!

Stop by the front desk when you enter the building!

Learning Outcome

Describe characteristics of different people and their jobs

Ask your partner:

- Make a list of the different places where you speak to someone at the front desk.
- What are the different things you can ask and do at the front desk?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about jobs and work.
- I can ask for clarification.
- I can talk or report about actions, events or people.

Let's Explore!

It's Sally first day but she needs to get a card before she can go to the office. Does she get what she needs?

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Sally: Hello. I'm here to get a pass.
Clerk: A visitor's pass?
Sally: Maybe. She told me I needed to get a pass before my meet and greet.
Clerk: Which office?
Sally: Cambridge Life. They hired me.
Clerk: You need an access card. Can I get your name please?
Sally: Sally.
Clerk: I'm sorry. What was that? Molly?
Sally: No, Sally.
Clerk: Is "Sally" spelled with a Y or an IE at the end?
Sally: A Y.
Clerk: Sorry. What did you say your name was?
Sally: Sally Davis.
Clerk: What's your address?
Sally: 4523 Hollyoak Street.
Clerk: Sorry. I didn't catch that last part.
Sally: Number 4523 on Hollyoak Street.
Clerk: Your date of birth?
Sally: April 20th, 1980.
Clerk: I thought I heard the 20th. Is that correct?
Sally: Yes, the 20th.
Clerk: OK. Here you are. You can only use this at the front entrance. If you use the back door, you need to punch in a code. The code is 9-4-0 ...
Sally: Could you repeat that please?
Clerk: 9-4-0-2.
Sally: Thanks.

Learning Points

Irregular Verbs

You use the Past Simple tense to talk about actions that happened in the past.

To form the Past Simple tense of a regular verb, you follow certain rules.

Some verbs do not follow any rules. They are called irregular verbs. Here are the past tense forms of some irregular verbs:

	Present	Past
Sometimes the verb changes completely:	think be	thought was
Sometimes there is "half" a change:	write do	wrote did
Sometimes there is no change:	read	read

Examples:

- I thought I heard the 20th.
- I read that the card was for all new employees.
- The receptionist told me to come here.
- I wrote down the wrong address.

Learning Points

Asking for Clarification

If you don't understand what a person is saying, it is important to ask for clarification in a polite way.

One way to ask for clarification is to ask the person to repeat what they said.

Here are some phrases and expressions you can use to ask for repetition or clarification:

- Excuse me?
- Could you repeat that?
- Could you say that again?
- What did you say?
- What was that (again)?
- Did you say . . . ?
- I'm sorry. I didn't catch that.
- *Is it X or Y? **
- Is that correct?

If you want to clarify between two things, you can ask if it's (X) or (Y)?*

Examples:

- I'm sorry. I'm not quite sure I caught that. Can you repeat that please?
- Is Cathy spelled with a C or K?
- Did you say 289?
